EU DIRECTIVE 2002/95/EC
RESTRICTION of HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES (RoHS)

The above directive stipulates maximum concentrations of certain hazardous substances.

To the best of our knowledge, product that Mantek currently supplies your company, either do not contain the listed hazardous substances, or the concentrations are less than the permitted maximums stated in the Directive.

Mantek supplies products to customers, some of whom require RoHS compliance, whilst the majority do not. The onus is upon the purchaser to specify their full requirements on their enquiries, drawings, material specifications and purchase orders – Mantek cannot warrant that all products ordered by a purchaser will comply with RoHS, unless we are advised of the requirement at the enquiry stage.

Mantek's standard stocked grades of material all comply with RoHS, but some material specifications may fail to meet the requirement – it is therefore imperative that we are aware of any RoHS compliance requirement.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Mandell
Director
